The Stairway To Hell

May all the sinners, evil and cruel

Make their way down the stairway to Hell

After falling down a very long height

They will begin to lose their sight

As Hell’s Gates open up in front of their eyes

With fire burning from the pits below

They will go through a decade long process of torture

Being stabbed with only the sharpest of knives that the demons could conjure

And they shall be stoned, a fitting punishment for them

Before finally being stripped for meat and bones

While their parts are added to the devil’s throne.
